

OBJECTIVES

As stated in the terms of reference, the main objectives of the present study are as follow.

- To broaden the understanding of the impact and implications of different types of mountain tourism on different eco-zones
- To use the outputs generated to develop training modules and materials on mountain tourism for policy-makers, programme managers, and the local community