

ICIMOD is the first international centre in the field of mountain development. Founded out of widespread recognition of environmental degradation of mountain habitats and the increasing poverty of mountain communities, ICIMOD is concerned with the search for more effective development responses to promote the sustained well being of mountain people.

The Centre was established in 1983, and commenced professional activities in 1984. Though international in its concerns, ICIMOD focuses on the specific, complex, and practical problems of the Hindu Kush-Himalayan Region which covers all or part of eight Sovereign States.

ICIMOD serves as a multidisciplinary documentation centre on integrated mountain development; a focal point for the mobilisation, conduct, and coordination of applied and problem-solving research activities; a focal point for training on integrated mountain development, with special emphasis on the assessment of training needs, the development of relevant training materials based directly on field case studies; and a consultative centre providing expert services on mountain development and resource management.

Mountain Farming Systems constitutes one of the four thematic research and development programmes at ICIMOD. The programme deals with agriculture defined broadly to cover all land-based activities (cropping, horticulture, forestry, livestock farming, etc) and their support systems. Currently the major focus of the programme is on the factors and processes contributing to the sustainability/unsustainability of mountain agriculture. This is carried out by examining (through both knowledge reviews and field studies) the sensitivity of public and private interventions to specific mountain conditions. The explicit consideration of the latter conditions can alone assure a mountain perspective to public policies and programmes in the agricultural sector.
