

KAILASH CONFLUENCE

REVIVING CONNECTIONS FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

23–24 September 2019
Yalbang, Humla, Nepal

Culture and heritage

Explore the landscape's shared cultural heritage through music, dance, storytelling, and arts and crafts

Culinary experiences

Experience the rich culinary traditions of the landscape during a village tour and local food bazaar

Ecological diversity

Discover the landscape's rich biodiversity through a nature walk and a mountain products exhibition

People-to-people exchange

Connect with the landscape's diverse inhabitants, who share cultures, histories, memories, knowledge, and ideas

Photos: Jitendra Raj Bajracharya / ICIMOD

Revitalizing cross-border linkages

Humla District, Nepal, is the gateway to Mount Kailash and Lake Manasarovar in Pulan County of the Tibet Autonomous Region, China.

Humla is also a key transit point on the ancient salt trade route that connected communities of Pulan County with those in the mountains and lowlands of Nepal and India.

Revitalizing these connections through cross-border cooperation is key to achieving sustainable socioeconomic development.

Celebrating shared culture, history, and economy in the transboundary Kailash Sacred Landscape

Organized by:

Namkha Rural Municipality

Supported by:

Karnali Province

ICIMOD

Kailash Sacred Landscape Initiative

KAILASH CONFLUENCE

REVIVING CONNECTIONS FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

23–24 September 2019
Yalbang, Humla, Nepal

Culture and heritage

Explore the landscape's shared cultural heritage through music, dance, storytelling, and arts and crafts

Culinary experiences

Experience the rich culinary traditions of the landscape during a village tour and local food bazaar

Ecological diversity

Discover the landscape's rich biodiversity through a nature walk and a mountain products exhibition

People-to-people exchange

Connect with the landscape's diverse inhabitants, who share cultures, histories, memories, knowledge, and ideas

Photos: Jitendra Raj Bajracharya \ ICIMOD

Revitalizing cross-border linkages

Humla District, Nepal, is the gateway to Mount Kailash and Lake Manasarovar in Pulan County of the Tibet Autonomous Region, China.

Humla is also a key transit point on the ancient salt trade route that connected communities of Pulan County with those in the mountains and lowlands of Nepal and India.

Revitalizing these connections through cross-border cooperation is key to achieving sustainable socioeconomic development.

Celebrating shared culture, history, and economy in the transboundary Kailash Sacred Landscape

Organized by:

Namkha Rural Municipality

Supported by:

Karnali Province

ICIMOD

Kailash Sacred Landscape Initiative