

ICIMOD is the first international centre in the field of mountain development. Founded out of widespread recognition of environmental degradation of mountain habitats and the increasing poverty of mountain communities, ICIMOD is concerned with the search for more effective development responses to promote the sustained well being of mountain people.

The Centre was established in 1983 and commenced professional activities in 1984. Though international in its concerns, ICIMOD focusses on the specific, complex, and practical problems of the Hindu Kush-Himalayan Region which covers all or part of eight Sovereign States.

ICIMOD serves as a multidisciplinary documentation centre on integrated mountain development; a focal point for the mobilisation, conduct, and coordination of applied and problem-solving research activities; a focal point for training on integrated mountain development, with special emphasis on the assessment of training needs and the development of relevant training materials based directly on field case studies; and a consultative centre providing expert services on mountain development and resource management.

Integrated area development and its implementation offers a systematic approach to the promotion of mountain development. Development programmes must find practical methods that reconcile the conflicts between increased productivity and environmental sustainability. In order to promote the economic and environmental development of mountain areas, ICIMOD has formulated the Area Development Planning and Implementation Programme with the objectives of integrating the lessons learned from the different programmes of ICIMOD and applying them.
