

Diversifying and Enhancing Livelihood Options in the Himalayan Region

Contents

- Linking ICIMOD's Programme and its Impacts to the Millennium Development Goals
- Letter from the Director General
- New Opportunities for Mountain Economies
- Globalisation and Emerging Livelihood Issues in Mountain Areas
- Opportunities for Income through Biodiversity Conservation
- Apitherapy: Traditional Medicines Gain Scientific Recognition
- Bringing Organic Honey of Indigenous Bee Origin to the European Market
- Pollination Services: A New and More Rewarding Vocation for Beekeepers in Himachal Pradesh, India
- Improving the Cash Income of Poor Mountain Households through Apis cerana Beekeeping: An Experience from Nepal
- Forest User Groups in Nepal: Moving to International Markets that Care for Sustainability
- Community Based Enterprises: Successes and Issues in the Himalayan Region
- Social Responsibility in the Growing Handmade Paper Industry of Nepal
- Cucumber Seed Enterprise: Lwang Farmers Share the Seeds of their Success
- Poverty Reduction through High-Value Agriculture: The Experience of CEAPRED
- Economics of Village Tourism: Experiences and Lessons from Sirubari, Nepal
- Institutional Profile: CEAPRED
- Sustainable Rural Tourism Development in Bhutan: Community Tourism in the Jigme Singye Wangchuck National Park
- Partner Stories
- Centre News